

I believe that our LTVPOA members must be pleased with much of the progress our association has achieved during the past several years. I know that I am. We have moved from financial concerns and division over water and sewer issues, back to an association respected for the benefit and unity it helps provide its members and our community.

That said, attracting new individuals to volunteer the considerable time and effort necessary to help in leading an association like ours is sometimes difficult.

After the several notifications and requests we give each year, for the first time that I am familiar with, the deadline to submit paperwork to run for our POA Board or any open Committee Chair position has passed with no one making new application.

First let me express that Tennessee law and our Corporate By-Laws provide for these unanticipated happenings. Our current POA Board has discussed these provisions and is comfortable with them.

The three Board members, who would have otherwise been completing their service terms this year, have agreed to continue their service per Tennessee Code. This action will prevent any need to temporarily reduce the number of Board members, as would also be allowed under our By- Laws. Thankfully, it additionally appears that none of our Committee Chairs have determined the need to retire immediately.

While this happening for now could be accepted as a blessing that allows for a continued consistency in leadership and direction, let me be the first to say that our association is forever in need of fresh leadership.

Tansi is a wonderful community, and volunteering in our Association is an excellent way of giving back to it.

Respectfully,

Farrell Odom
